

Call for Papers

Chemometrics in Analytical Chemistry, CAC-2014, is inviting abstract submissions for oral presentations and posters for the Richmond conference from June 9 -13, 2014. Topics that are especially encouraged are applications in chromatography and spectroscopy; novel chemometric methods; multi-way methods; industrial applications; -omics applications; variable selection methods and more. Abstracts for consideration can be submitted as oral presentation only, poster presentation only or oral presentation if available otherwise a poster presentation is acceptable. Please note that limited oral presentation opportunities will be available because parallel sessions will not be held. Abstracts must be submitted by January 31, 2014. Authors will be notified of acceptance and presentation format by February 28, 2014.
